

Prof. Sonia Mallek
Editor-in-chief of the International Review of Law

Editorial Foreword

The International Review of Law is known for being a scientific platform, open to various legal schools, enabling it to embrace scholarly subjects and topics from various legal fields. This Issue's research papers shed light on various national, regional, and international laws as depicted in the journal's vision for being a leading legal journal that combines international and comparative dimensions contributing to enhancing the national law.

The editorial board of the International Review of Law selected the below-shown nine research papers that meet the standards of authentic and accurate scholarly work to benefit the research audience as follows:

1. Constitutional Judiciary in the Arab Region: The Impact of the Formation Mechanisms of the New Constitutional Courts on their Independence (Rashad Twam, Asem Khalil)
2. The Legal Framework For Loan-Based Crowdfunding Operations in the UAE (Pierre Mallet, Zeana Ghanim Abdijabar, & Hala Nassar)
3. Civil Liability for Artificial Intelligence Damages in Qatari Law, Is it Necessary to Legislate? (Anis Ladhar)
4. State of the Union Address by the President of the United States of America Executive: Recommendation Authority – An Analytical Study (Fadi Mohammad Jadid)
5. Constitutional Control over the Negative Deviation from the Legislative Purpose: A Study on Egyptian Constitutional Court Rulings and Qatari Legislation Models (Sara Ali Sallabi)
6. Real Estate Registration and its Legal Effects in Omani Legislation (Maryam R. S. Alsaidi, Saif Nasser A. Al-Mamari, & Mohammad Khair Al Adwan)
7. The Public Servant Guarantees During the Administrative Investigations in the Light of Provisions of Qatari Civil Human Resources Law No.15 of 2016 (Yousuf Ibrahim AL Hammadi)
8. The Legal Value of International Treaties in the Palestinian Constitutional System: The Problem of Combining the Theories of Monism and Dualism (Ahmad Hosni Ali Ashqar)
9. Royalties in Mature Upstream Oil and Gas Developments: Progression, Reduction or Abolition? (Eduardo G Pereira, et al.)

The editorial team would like to thank all researchers for choosing the International Review of Law as a trusted platform for publishing their research papers. They would also like to thank all the referees who contributed to selecting and improving the research papers of this issue, thus contributing to locating the journal as a knowledge platform that encourages legal professionals to publish their work and reach their targeted readership.

Cite this article as: Mallek S., "Editorial Foreword", International Review of Law, Qatar University, Volume 14, Regular Issue 1, 2025. <https://doi.org/10.29117/ir1.2025.0310>

© 2025, Mallek S., licensee, IRL & QU Press. This article is published under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial 4.0 International (CC BY-NC 4.0), which permits non-commercial use of the material, appropriate credit, and indication if changes in the material were made. You can copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format as well as remix, transform, and build upon the material, provided the original work is properly cited. <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0>