International Review of Law

Editorial Foreword

The International Journal of Law has consistently reaffirmed its mission to serve as an open scientific platform for publishing rigorous legal research, committed to the highest standards of quality and scholarly review, and distinguished by the diversity of its topics covering various branches of law. While striving to enrich legal knowledge, the journal also seeks to foster international academic dialogue and support contemporary legal practices, thereby becoming a trusted reference for researchers. This issue comprises ten research papers, distributed across three languages, as outlined below.

Arabic-language papers

This issue presents four research papers in Arabic, each addressing a distinct legal topic:

- 1- “Annulment as a Mechanism for Protecting Contractual Will in Automatically Generated Contracts, An Analytical Comparative Study” By Hossam El-Din Ahmed Sherif.
- 2- “Constitutionalizing and Activating of the Right to a Fair Trial in the Palestinian Legal System” by Ahmad Ziad Dabak.
- 3- “The Fiduciary Duties of Majority Shareholders in Joint-Stock Companies: A Critical Comparative Study Between U.S. Law (State of Delaware) and French Law” by Athbi Eid Alenezi.
- 4- “Hardship Theory under the CISG of 1980” by Haya Amer Khalaf, and Mahmoud Musa Dodeen.

English-language papers

The issue contains four research papers in English addressing contemporary legal subjects:

- 1- “Copyright Laws in GCC Countries in the Age of Generative AI: A Legal Analysis Using ChatGPT as a Case Study” by Noura Hezam Al-Mutairi.
- 2- “Child Abduction and Forum Shopping: The Hague Convention on Child Abduction as a Means in Private International Law to Protect Children in Cases of Divorcing Parents” by Sara Hamad Al-Qarah.
- 3- “Provision of Adequate Redress for Victims of Violence in the Iraqi Legal System” by Faris Kareem Al-Anaibi.
- 4- “The impact of International Court of Justice decisions on the Palestinian-Israeli conflict: A legal perspective” by Doaa Bahjat Sulaiman.

French-language papers

This issue also includes two research papers in French addressing fundamental legal subjects:

- 1- “L’extraterritorialité des droits humains à l’épreuve de la souveraineté étatique : entre silences conventionnels et innovations jurisprudentielles” by Anasse Tijaoui.
- 2- “Au-delà du multilatéralisme international : la coopération judiciaire inter-régionale dans la définition du terrorisme en Belgique et au Qatar” by Ali Bounjoua.

The Editorial Board extends its sincere gratitude and appreciation to all those who contributed to the writing and review of this issue, hoping that it will be well received by our readership for the enrichment it offers to legal knowledge, and that it will serve as an inspiring incentive for researchers to continue their contributions in the field of legal writing.
